

WINGS WEEKEND 2003

Allegheny County Airport

West Mifflin, PA

At CJ Systems

(Located on the Upper West Ramp)

October 3-5, 2003

Sponsored by

The 2003 Wings/Aviation Maintenance Technician Weekend Safety Program is the premiere aviation safety event in Pennsylvania. Held by the Allegheny and Charleston, WV Flight Standards District Offices of the Federal Aviation Administration, our Wings Weekend 2003 will be the biggest yet!

Wings Weekend 2003 offers pilots three (3) hours of FREE DUAL INSTRUCTION with Certified Flight Instructors towards the Pilot Proficiency Awards - WINGS.

In addition, pilots will have many opportunities to attend our outstanding safety seminars. The flying, along with attendance at one seminar, will complete the qualifications for a phase of WINGS and pilots will receive a WINGS pin and certificate at a special awards banquet on Saturday evening.

YOU SUPPLY THE AIRCRAFT - WE SUPPLY THE REST FOR F-R-E-E !
(Airplanes will also be available for rental.)

Wings Weekend 2003 will also provide opportunity for maintenance technicians to get sixteen (16) hours of FREE RECURRENT TRAINING that can be used towards the Aviation Maintenance Technician Awards. All attendees receive a sign-off crediting them with the training and a chance to win some great prizes. One 8-hour day of maintenance training is also an approved IA Refresher.

This year's event will feature many celebrity speakers, including Al Haynes, the Captain of United 232, which crashed in Sioux City, Iowa on July 19, 1989. 184 people aboard the DC-10 survived. Mr. Haynes will speak on Friday from 10:15 - 11:45 AM.

Also, John and Martha King are slated to speak on Saturday from 10:15 - 11:45 AM.

British Adventurer David Hempleman-Adams is slated to speak on Friday and Saturday from 12:45 - 2:15 PM. Also Arlene Feldman - Eastern Region Administrator;

James Ballough, Director of Flight Standards - FAA Washington Headquarters; Bill O'Brien - FAA Washington Headquarters; Richard Collins, Jr. - Flying Magazine; Bill DeGraaff - Eastern Region Runway Safety Program Manager Runway Safety and Honorable John J. Goglia - NTSB Board Member. (Seminar schedules on Page 2,

Don't miss the Saturday Night Wings Weekend 2003 Awards Banquet at 6:30 PM and Silent Auction for The Aviation Foundation and the announcement of the scholarship winner(s). (See reservation form on back page)
